Project description:

Institutions of higher learning and industry have traditionally been operating in separate realms. In order to better prepare the professionals of tomorrow and to further the employability of our students, we need to understand the needs and requirements of the professional world to guide our ESP/EPP curricula to maximize our resources to ensure the best possible outcome for our students. The industry can provide us with a better understanding of what those needs are, since they are our students' future employers.

6. In which countries would you be interested in finding partners?
All European countries
